Description: A university famous nationwide as one of the "Big 4" universities. It was established on February 12, 1949 and is the largest constituent campus. It is also believed to be one of the most haunted campuses in Metro Manila.

Every building is said to house at least one spirit. In one of the oldest buildings, the Benitez Hall, a professor asked the guard to let her stay in the building, as it was raining that day. He brought her to a room and said not to open the door until he returned. She heard footsteps a while later, and through the crack of the door, she saw red. The guard told her that there was a ghost that came at a specific hour, and what she saw was the ghost's red eye.

Another story from that hall is that there was an artist who did a portrait of the late dean, where they mixed ashes into the paint. Every night, the dean comes out from the painting to roam the halls and even attend the lectures of the aspiring teachers.

Late at night, a student took the campus's jeepney to get to her dorm. She was scared since was the only passenger, and the driver was looking at her with a strange expression, seeming worried. He took a much longer route that she did not recognize, but eventually, it stopped at her dorm. Before she left, the driver stopped her to tell her that she should remove all her clothes and burn them as soon as she got home. He explained that he took the long route to get rid of the spirit following her, as when he saw her from the mirror, she had no head.

In the Wilfrido Ma. Guerrero Theater in Palma Hall, it is believed that a woman named Marisa resides there. She was allegedly an actress. There are a few stories. In her last scene, the harness she was lowered with snapped and choked her to death. Another is that she was jealous of the new actors and hanged herself onstage. Now, she's said to still haunt her dressing room and sometimes appears in productions during scenes with many from the ensemble.

In the College of Human Kinetics, or the gym, four cheerleaders heard the dribbling of a basketball in the court after the gym had already been locked up. Another time, three drummers head the three loud beats of the bass drums as they were heading to leave. From the second-floor window, they saw a girl in white holding drumsticks.

Some security guards of the College of Music say that they can hear someone vocalizing or playing the piano or gamelan. When they check the rooms to catch the students, they find that there is no one.

Report from Agent 0927:

Date: 2026/03/22

There were other short or unfinished files on the different spirits. I requested to open one for all of them, merging information from the old ones. They're in the archive now. At this point, they are in a restricted section for processing, so I can't access them. That's unfortunate.

I was inspired by a friend to look into the university as a whole. Thank you, [REDACTED]!
